

STORE YOUR ART.

Alexander Lempert, United

OR SHOW IT.

YOU CAN DO BOTH AT MANHATTAN FINE ART STORAGE.

You can store your art or show it at Manhattan Fine Art Storage. That's because we're a fine art storage facility and a gallery in one. You can rent either a storage room or the gallery, but you may just want to do both — our prices are competitive and our Soho location can't be beat. You'll find us at the Manhattan Mini Storage building at 161 Varick Street, just three blocks south of Houston. If you're an artist who keeps crazy hours, you'll particularly appreciate us: we're open 24 hours a day, 365 days a year.

Our art storage facility is both climate and humidity-controlled. Our steel-constructed storage rooms are totally private, and individually alarmed. Your storage room will be secured by your own lock, to which only you'll have a key. (Even we won't have one.) To further protect your work, the entire floor is protected by a UL certified AA2 security system. What's more, we have a computerized card entry system, closed circuit TV monitoring and taping, constant security rounds, plus a manager who lives right on the premise. Our fireproof building is modern, clean, and built entirely of concrete and steel. As for the actual storing of your work, it couldn't be easier. We have covered loading docks, A-frame dollies, and a brand new large automated elevator. Art storage shelving and racks are also available to keep your work well protected and organized in storage. You can rent a storage room by the month or long term.

Store valuable
*paintings,
sculpture,
photographs,
stamps,
furniture and
antiques*

*O*ur gallery features two, naturally lit 450 square foot rooms, with 12 foot high ceilings. (That's over 600 square feet of wall space.) Each room offers flexible incandescent and halogen lighting, black-out shades, a hanging system, easels, and pedestals. You simply install your work and exhibit. Better still, unlike other galleries, we take no commission. That means, of course, any sales you make, you keep.

*W*hether you are interested in storing or showing, we invite you to come by and see what we're all about. To set up an appointment, call (212) 757-4700.