Young Tel Aviv A Tale of Two Cities Anat Helman

"Anat Helman's Young Tel Aviv: A Tale of Two Cities offers a fascinating portrait of 'the first Hebrew city' during the interwar years. . . . Helman's study presents the rich texture of daily life and public events in young Tel Aviv as it was developing into a major urban center of the Zionist Yishuv. A must read for anyone interested in Israeli society and culture, urban history, and cultural studies."

Land and Desire in Early Zionism Boaz Neumann

Neumann's close readings of archival documents, memoirs, diaries, poetry, and prose of the period develop new understandings of the Zionist enterprise. Desire for the Land and a visceral identification with it explain the pioneer experience, its impact on Israeli history and collective memory, as well as on Israel's abiding connection to the Land of Israel.

Yehuda Amichai The Making of Israel's National Poet Nili Scharf Gold

"The complexities of the Hebrew revival are at the center of Nili Scharf Gold's exhaustively researched, passionately argued and highly persuasive study of Yehuda Amichai (1924-2000), Israel's 'beloved unofficial national poet.'"

Israel in the Middle East Documents and Readings on Society, Politics, and Foreign Relations, Pre-1948 to the Present

Edited by Itamar Rabinovich and Jehuda Reinharz

"Two renowned professors of Middle East and Jewish history and diplomacy selected and edited the sources, which cover events from early Zionism in the 1880s through the 2006 Israeli-Hzbollah War. . . . Seven maps, 12 appendices of population and political data, and an extensive biographical and subject glossary add to the richness of this volume. . . . Recommended."
